ANNUAL REPORT TO THE SUPREME COURT SUBMITTED BY THE STATE BOARD OF LAW EXAMINERS AND MADE AVAILABLE FOR PUBLICATION BY THE MINNESOTA STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

The State Board of Law Examiners respectfully submits the following annual consolidated report of its activities for the year May 1, 1946, through May 1, 1947, pursuant to Order of the Supreme Court dated February 7, 1947. Since this is the first such annual report, the Board has selected the year next preceding May 1, 1947 in conformity with the practice of the Minnesota State Bar Association to require reports from its committees and agencies on or about May 1st of each year. It is contemplated that the report hereafter will encompass the year May 1st to April 30th next, rather than a calendar year. This report includes, however, the successful examinees who sat for the April, 1947, Bar Examination but who were actually not sworn in by the Supreme Court until May 2, 1947.

1. Admissions

- a. A table is attached hereto showing all admissions to the bar since May 1, 1946 (including those admitted May 2, 1947, as the result of the April, 1947, bar examination). The table states by Board file number and without name, the age of each applicant, his pre-legal training, his legal training, his previous attempts (if any) at the bar examination, the requirements of the Rules for Admission waived (if any) and other data. The table includes only those admitted and excludes those who sat for the examination but were unsuccessful and others who applied for permission to sit for the examination or for admission on motion and who were rejected. A total of 103 persons have been admitted to the Minnesota bar since May 1, 1946.
- b. Admissions on Motion: Of those admitted the last year, 32 were admitted on motion and without examination.
 - (1) 29 of those admitted on motion were foreign attorneys who had been admitted in other jurisdictions and who had actively practiced therein for five years (or had had at least one year's active practice in the jurisdiction of their admittance, and sufficient time in the armed services of the United States so that the total time of their active practice and military service equalled or exceeded five years). These applicants were found to be of good moral character and to meet the requirements of Rule IX of the Supreme Court Rules relating to such admissions.
 - (2) 3 of the 32 admissions on motion qualified under Rule XI of the Rules of the Supreme Court admitting without examination under certain circumstances Minnesota residents who had entered the military service immediately after graduation from law school and before having a reasonable opportunity to sit for the bar examination, or who had entered military service before graduation from law school but after having had a portion of the senior year's work in such school. Though most persons who qualified for such manner of admission were admitted prior to or at the time of their entry into service, some eligibles were not advised of the rule or already were in service in 1942 at the time of its adoption and thus made no application until their return from service. Such applicants were considered eligible if they would have been eligible had they applied for admission at the time of their entry into the military service even though they made no application at that time.

(3) The admissions on motion are included in the table of admissions attached to this report.

- c. Admissions of successful bar examinees: Two examinations have been held since May 1, 1946. 40 applicants sat for the August, 1946, examination and 30 were successful, 47 applicants sat for the April, 1947, examination and 42 were successful. The percentage passing the examination was thus 82.76% of all who sat for the examination. Note: Certain examinees who were successful at the April, 1947, examination are not included in the table attached hereto because as at May 2, 1947, they had not formally been admitted due to absence from the state at date of formal group admission or for other reasons. One examinee who sat for the August, 1946, examination and was successful was not recommended for admission because of a pre-legal deficiency. Of the 40 who sat for the August, 1946, examination, there is included an applicant who previously had sat for a "partial" examination and who (upon his return from military service) wrote his remaining subject at the August, 1946, examination and was thereupon admitted. Similarly, one "partial" examinee successfully completed his examination at the April, 1947, examination and is included in the table attached hereto as an admittee.
2. Rejected applications or requests for admission:
- a. The Bar Examination: 15 of the 87 examinees who sat for the bar examination were not successful and so were not recommended for admission and were not, in fact, admitted.
- b. Applications for admission on motion: The minutes of the Board of Law Examiners show that since May 1, 1946, 26 persons were rejected for admission on motion or were refused permission to sit for the examination, in each case such rejection being based on the ground that the applicant did not comply with the Rules of the Supreme Court relative to admission (one case on the ground of failure to establish good character). In addition to such formal applications, many more persons made informal inquiry of the Secretary and were advised of their ineligibility. No records are kept of such informal inquiries.
3. The Board's recommendations on admissions and rejections were followed and upheld by the Supreme Court in every case during the last year except that the Court admitted one foreign attorney without recommendation from the Board and while the Board was still conducting its character investigation.
4. Court Rule Changes: During the last year new Rules for Admission to the Bar were published and issued by the Supreme Court (dated August 1, 1946). These embodied changes in the former rules, for the most part, for the benefit of the veterans, and can be summarized as follows:
- a. Rule V requiring 2 years pre-legal education was modified so as to permit an honorably discharged veteran who has had one year of pre-legal work in residence to take certain General Educational Development tests given at the University of Minnesota (or elsewhere) and to substitute success in these for his second year of pre-legal work.
- b. Rule VIII relating to re-examinations was changed so as to permit veterans to sit for a fourth examination under certain circumstances.
- c. Rule IX permitting admission on motion of attorneys duly admitted and who have actively practiced for a period of 5 years in another state, was amended so as to permit such admission on motion if a veteran admitted in another state had practiced at least one year (or more) and the total time of his practice and service in the armed forces equalled or exceeded five years.

- d. Rule XI, originally adopted in 1942, admitting under certain circumstances men who were entering the armed services upon, or shortly before, graduation from law school, was formally incorporated into the Rules of admission.
 - e. Under date of December 18, 1945, a State Bar Advisory Council was established by Order of the Court, consisting of the Dean of each of the approved law schools in the state, 2 members of the Board of Law Examiners, 1 member of the Legal Education Committee of the State Bar Association and 1 past president of the State Bar Association. During the past year, the Board submitted several controversial questions of policy to the council and in each case followed the council's advice and judgment.
 - f. October 1, 1946, the Supreme Court entered an order, on recommendation of the Board and the State Advisory Council, interpreting Rule V relating to 2 years pre-legal educational requirement so as to require that said pre-legal work must be with at least a "C" average or 1 "honor point" for each credit (exempting to some extent, however, those enrolled in law school at date of entry of said order).
 - g. October 29, 1946, on recommendation of the Board, the Supreme Court amended Rule IV changing the examination dates to September and April (from August and February) so as better to fit the requirements of the various schools and the needs of the veteran student graduates.
 - h. February 7, 1947, an order was entered by the Supreme Court requiring an annual report of the State Board of Law Examiners.
 - i. February 18, 1947, the Supreme Court established a State Bar Admissions Review Panel with jurisdiction to review the work of the Board in certain instances either at the request of the Board itself or upon Court order. To date there has been no review and it is not known how this Panel will function.
5. Changes in Board policy (with approval of the Court, but without formal court order or rule change).
- a. The Board concluded to abolish the so-called "oral" examination. 75% is now, and in the past has been, the passing grade for bar examinations. Previously the Board had called in all examinees whose grades fell between 70% and 74.9% for an oral examination, each examinee being questioned for approximately half an hour or, in some instances, sent to the law library to brief a question of law and to submit the result of his research. The Board concluded that this procedure was not of sufficient value to justify its retention. The Board resolved to follow the practice in effect in many other states, namely, to review the papers of those falling between 70% and 74.9%, having an examiner, other than the original one, re-read the examinee's books with a view to ascertaining whether or not the answers were graded too closely and whether or not an injustice had been done.
 - b. The Board, by motion duly adopted, concluded to give an automatic credit of 10 points to each veteran of World War II whose legal education had been interrupted by service in the armed services on those subjects which he had studied prior to entry into the armed services. The thought behind this was that while the veteran should not be exempted entirely from examination in his pre-war studies, yet he is at a disadvantage in writing an examination in such subjects studied (frequently) as many as 8 or 9 years prior to writing the exam and should be accorded this credit.

It is singular that of the 87 students who wrote the August, 1946, and April, 1947, examination, this credit made the difference between passing and failing in only one case. The 5 who failed the April, 1947, examination and the 10 who failed the August, 1946, examination did not meet the requirements to entitle them to this credit. Only one examinee was aided to a passing grade by use of this credit.

- c. The Board concluded to permit those enrolled in a four year law course in such schools as would qualify under the Supreme Court Rules with but a three year law course to sit for the examination after completion of $3\frac{2}{3}$ years of their law school work, their admission, if successful, not to be recommended until receipt of an LL.B. degree from their law school.
6. Future problems:
- a. The number of examinees is expected to increase sharply within the next year. Soon there may be as many as 300 bar examinees a year, as compared with 87 the past year. This will put a heavy burden on the members of the Board and will, of necessity, render the task more arduous. Many states employ readers to assist the Board members in the task of grading the examination papers. Perhaps consideration should be given to some such plan in Minnesota.
 - b. The 1947 session of the Minnesota legislature passed Chapter 285 of the Laws of 1947 (signed by the Governor April 10, 1947) providing that a veteran who had two years or more of law school work and whose education was interrupted by service in the armed forces may be admitted, in certain circumstances on motion and without examination upon his obtaining, after his return from Service an LL.B. degree from an approved law school. This law also provides that those who have had one year or more of law work prior to entry into the armed services may be exempted from examination in those law subjects studied prior to entry into the service. The law appears to be permissive and not mandatory. It is so new, however, that the Board has, as at the date of this report, had no adequate opportunity to study it, either as to its constitutionality or as to the number of applicants possibly affected by it. Undoubtedly within the coming year, the questions raised by this law will be clarified and resolved.
 - c. The Board of Law Examiners, contrary to the thought retained by many members of the Bar has, and, since 1944 has had, no jurisdiction over disciplinary matters affecting members of the Bar. This was transferred to the Bar Association itself by Court order and is entirely handled by a committee thereof.

Respectfully submitted,
