The work of the state association and the district and county associations also needs to be better correlated than it has been, so that the experience of each of these groups may be made useful to the others and so that each group may get the maximum of benefit from the work being done in the others.

In conclusion, the committee wishes to express its appreciation to the many lawyers who have, in turn, given assistance to the public relations committee. It is especially indebted to those lawyers who gave generously of their time and talents to aid in the fund-raising campaign, and to Mr. McKasy, executive secretary of the Minnesota State Bar Association. The public relations program has necessarily placed an extra burden upon the central office, a load which has been carried efficiently and without complaint.

Respectfully submitted,

W W Gibson, Chairman

Minority Report—Public Relations Committee

The following members of the committee concur in the foregoing report with the exception of the recommendation to increase annual dues. We believe that if a continued Public Relations program is to be carried on in future years, it should be financed from dues rather than by an annual solicitation for funds. We are of the opinion, however, as of April 2, 1949, the date of adoption of the foregoing report, that the present program has not been in operation a sufficient length of time for the entire Bar to either appraise it adequately or to make decision as to methods of financing a program for future years.
